Govt. to take back MUDA's 50:50 sites?

Minister Cheluvarayaswamy hints at site withdrawal

while speaking to reporters in Mysuru

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (MTY&BCT)- In a significant development regarding the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) site scam, Agriculture Minister N. Cheluvarayaswamy announced that the Government intends to revoke all sites allocated under the controversial 50:50 scheme.

Cheluvarayaswamy

Speaking to reporters in Mysuru this morning after inaugurating the Raitha Dasara procession at J.K. Grounds, the Minister raised concerns about the legality and integrity of these allocations.

Expressing astonishment over the allocations surrounding the issue, Cheluvarayaswamy called the scheme "illegal." He underscored the necessity for scrutiny, stating, "This represents a high ratio of site allocations, and the Government is poised to withdraw the allocations made under the 50:50 scheme."

The Minister's remarks indicate that the Government is taking proactive steps to address the scam. This follows Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife, B.M. Parvathi voluntarily surrendering her 14 sites to MUDA, which she received under the 50:50 scheme in exchange for her 3.16-acre land in Kesare.

"It's not just MLA G.T. Devegowda; similar issues exist for many others. I will not name individuals," he stated. When asked if illegal allocations would be returned, he reiterated that the Government will reclaim such properties.

The Minister emphasised that accountability is essential, urging everyone to emulate the example set by CM's wife, who voluntarily surrendered her sites. He said, "Those who obtained land illegally must give it back."

Talk on 'Beyond Cybersecurity'

Mysuru, Oct. 5- Mysore Open Forum (MOF) has organised a talk on 'Beyond Cybersecurity: Behavioural Approaches to Information Assurance' by Prof. H. Raghav Rao, AT&T Distinguished Chair in Infrastructure Assurance and Security, Carlos Alvarez College of Business, The University of Texas, San Antonio, USA, at 10.30 am on Oct. 6 at Kalpa Kshetra Auditorium, #581/1, Vijayanagar 4th Stage, 1st Phase, Mysuru.

Prof. Raghav Rao

Profile: Dr. H.R. Rao was named the AT&T Distinguished Chair in Infrastructure Assurance and Security at The University of Texas in January 2016. He also holds a courtesy appointment as a full Professor in the UTSA Department of Computer Science.

Before working at UTSA, Prof. Rao was the SUNY Distinguished Service Professor at the University at Buffalo. He graduated from the Krannert Graduate School of Management at Purdue University, FMS Delhi (MBA) and IIT Kanpur (B.Tech).

In his talk, Prof. Raghav Rao will discuss information assurance and cybersecurity. While many people know about aspects of cybersecurity such as hackers and viruses, there is much more beyond these under the umbrella of Information Assurance (IA).

IA concerns operations that protect information systems by ensuring availability, integrity, authentication, confidentiality and nonrepudiation. In addition, it brings to attention human nature which is now a legitimate part of the study of cyber-security.

He will touch on various behavioural aspects of IA through various anecdotes. The talk is open to all. [Mob: 9449819536]

NOT MAID FOR EACH OTHER: Years after WFH became common currency, many saabs are still struggling to redeem themselves in the eyes of the maids. Before the pandemic, the maids were in awe of the saab. At least, that's the impression he had carried from their brief Sunday encounters.

With a stern look, he would flip through weekend supplements. He would frown to show his disapproval when he was forced to put his feet up to let her mop the floor. The maid knew it was an occupational hazard she had to endure once a week or even less. In his absence, the wife often used saab ko achha nahi lagta warning to get the maid to fall in line.

But then he became a permanent fixture at home. Bit by bit, in his vest, shorts and three-fourths, the saab was unravelled. Unlike shorter clothes, office clothes had once cloaked him in dignity. Contrary to what she had believed, he didn't have much work on hand. She often saw him slouched in his chair until a call from his bosses startled him. She realised his topmost boss was his wife; constantly correcting, reprimanding and even insulting him at the drop of a bartan.

Slowly, the power equation changed. Now, she looked at him as an irritant when he unmindfully walked through the freshly mopped area. It was her turn to give a disapproving look. It's not that he did not try to convey that he was still the man of the house. Hoping to please his wife, he once scolded the maid for reporting late for work. Instead, he got an earful for exceeding his brief. Before that, he had tried to scold the wife when the maid was around, only to burn his fingers.

Too much familiarity has already bred so much contempt that it looks unlikely for the saab to ever discover his pre-COVID delusions of grandeur. Should the maid be sacked and a new one hired to make a fresh, dignified start? But then hell hath no fury like a maid scorned. Why let your reputation travel far and wide?

Many have returned to WFO. Some are lucky that a hybrid work model allows them to frequently escape to the comfort of the office. Those still stuck at home no longer need a cue from the maid to shrink by drawing up their legs. They know they can't put their feet down anymore.

Boy faces disability after forced to do squats

Jining: A 13-year-old boy was diagnosed with rhabdomyolysis, a life-threatening condition, after being asked to do 1,000 squats as punishment during summer camp.

His father asked one of the camp teachers to accompany him to a nearby hospital to have his legs checked out, so they went to the local Jiaxiang County People's Hospital where he was diagnosed with a simple muscle strain and given some ointment. However, in the following days, the boy's legs hurt so much that he couldn't even walk or even sleep at night, so his parents took him to the Affiliated Hospital of Jining Medical College where doctors diagnosed him with rhabdomyolysis.

Tree cut in half becomes tourist attraction

Sheffield: A bizarre-looking fir tree sliced in half during a neighbourly dispute over bird droppings has become a popular tourist attraction with its own Google reviews in the Waterthorpe suburb of Sheffield, England.

Three years ago, the now-famous half-cut fir tree of Waterhope made news headlines for the first time. Located on the edge of Bharat Mistry's property, it extended its evergreen crown on the driveway of Irene and Graham Lee. The birds nesting in the tree had become a nuisance to the Lee's as they had to clean their driveway of droppings. At first, the two parties involved tried to find an amicable solution, like trimming the branches or installing nets to prevent birds from nesting in it, but since no compromise was reached, the Lees took matters into their own hands and hired an arborist to cut the tree in half and remove its branches from their property. Photos of the odd-looking tree went viral and the tree became a local tourist attraction.

REALLY...?

- On average, the life cycle of a House Fly only lasts for around 30 days, which means they don't live for long at all.
- However, in their short lifetime, they manage to accomplish quite a lot. House flies can lay up to 500 eggs in their lifetime which are usually in batches of around 75 to 150. So, although they don't live long, an infestation can quickly arise through new generations.

Unsafe ways of drawing cables by service providers

Has CESC relinquished its responsibility to public?

Sir,

Indiscriminate and unsafe methods of laying cables by internet and cable TV service providers have been a frequent source of complaints. However, the practice continues unchecked, as neither the Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) nor the service providers seem to respond to this serious civic hazard.

I have attached a photograph showing a cable from an electric pole sagging at just 6 to 7 feet from the ground near my house on 9th Cross, Saraswathipuram.

CESC denies responsibility, advising me to contact the service provider. However, there is no way to identify whose cables they are, as all the providers refuse to acknowledge ownership.

It appears that CESC has permitted internet service providers to use electric poles for tying cables, but it's common to see these cables haphazardly attached. The intermingling of open electric wires with these cables is particularly alarming and poses a significant danger, potentially leading to disastrous accidents. I urge the authorities to take immediate action, ensuring accountability before a serious incident occurs.

Change in operation of city buses catches passengers off-guard

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (SBD&BS)- KSRTC bus passengers had to face severe inconvenience, owing to lack of information over temporary changes in the operation of bus service on Thursday evening.

In view of the increase in traffic density in the heart of the city during illumination, as part of ongoing Dasara festivities, the KSRTC authorities have suspended the operation of buses from the City Bus Stand from 4 pm to 11 pm till Oct. 11.

Temporary bus stations have been set up at different places, with publicity made in this regard through a notice board in the bus stand and announcement over public address system.

The City Police have also installed direction boards at various roads, but several hundreds of passengers, who were unaware of the temporary arrangement, had to spend anxious moments.

The sales girls working in garment shops report for work early in the morning. In their hurry to reach the work place, they wouldn't have noticed the direction boards. They came to know of the changes only after arriving at the bus stand in the evening.

Amid the surge in traffic density, they hastened towards the bus stand, but had the KSRTC and City Police authorities taken extensive publicity measures, the inconvenience faced by uninformed passengers could have been avoided, said some of the passengers, who were craning their neck, looking for the buses.

KSRTC Divisional Controller (Urban) H.T. Veeresh said, the one-way traffic rule will be in place around Palace, during the illumination of the roads. Besides, the traffic will be high, prompting us to make temporary arrangements for the operation of buses. Passengers should cooperate till Dasara is over, he said.

Temporary City Bus Stands

(from 4 pm to 11 pm till October 11)

At Gandhi Square: For buses going towards KRS, Yelwal, Hootagalli, Belavadi, Koorgalli, Vijayanagar, Infosys, Metagalli, Srirangapatna, N.R. Mohalla, Udayagiri, Kesare, Siddalingapura and Naidu Nagar.

Near D. Banumaiah's College: For buses going towards Kuvempunagar, Saraswathipuram, Ramakrishna Nagar, Bogadi, Vidyaranyapuram, J.P. Nagar, Srirampura, H.D. Kote, Nanjangud and Kadakola.

State says NO to Kasturirangan Report; conveys to Centre

Bengaluru, Oct. 5 (DM)- In a significant reversal, the Karnataka Government, which had previously indicated a review of the Kasturirangan Report, officially rejected the Committee's recommendations. The report focuses on safeguarding Ecologically Sensitive Areas (ESAs) in the Western Ghats from environmental degradation.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister H.K. Patil confirmed the decision. He noted that Legislators, cutting across party lines, were unified in their opposition to the report. The Centre had initially issued a draft notification in 2014, based on the Kasturirangan Report, identifying ESAs and suggesting protective measures. However, MLAs and MPs from Western Ghats districts — Shivamogga, Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Chikkamagalur, Kodagu, and Uttara Kannada — strongly opposed its implementation, arguing it would negatively impact village residents in the region.

Notably, in August 2024, Forest, Environment and Ecology Minister Eshwar Khandre, who chairs the Cabinet Sub-Committee on the issue, mentioned the report would be discussed in the Cabinet. Even the previous BJP Government under Basavaraj Bommai had opposed the report.

Decision conveyed to Centre: Karnataka's decision was informed to the Centre. In a letter addressed to Leena Nandan, Secretary of the Union Ministry of Forests, Environment and Climate Change, Karnataka's Additional Chief Secretary of the Forest Department, N. Manjunath Prasad, outlined the State's objections to the report. He also requested the Centre to withdraw the sixth notification issued by the Union Ministry on July 31.

Prasad stated that the report had designated 20,668 square kilometres of the Western Ghats as eco-sensitive, a move that would severely impact lakhs of residents in 1,499 villages across 33 taluks in 10 districts. He noted that both local people and their representatives have strongly opposed the report.

Furthermore, Prasad mentioned that the State had previously rejected the fourth and fifth notifications from the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change. He added that a delegation led by the Chief Minister had met with the concerned Union Minister to highlight the hardships locals would face if the Kasturirangan Report was implemented.

KEA installs new name boards for pathways in Dasara Expo

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (GA&BS)- The Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA), which faced backlash from pro-Kannada organisations for removing name boards honouring prominent personalities from the State, including renowned litterateurs, has now installed new name boards for dignitaries at the Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

Following the sharp criticism regarding the removal of these boards, KEA Chairman Ayub Khan promised to replace them with newly designed boards that reflect a heritage look before the opening of the Dasara exhibition on Thursday (Oct. 3) evening. Accordingly, high-quality boards have been installed.

Ayub Khan stated, "As a former Mayor of Mysuru, I have immense respect for our land and language. The high-quality name boards in a heritage style were being prepared when the controversy erupted."

Several development projects have been undertaken at the Dasara expo. However, the way BJP State President B.Y. Vijayendra raised this particular issue indicates his aversion to having someone from a minority community serve as the KEA chairman.

Amid the uproar over the removal of the boards, Vijayendra took to his 'X' account to liken the situation to the "reign of Mohammad Ghazni's culture."

Addressing a press conference at a private hotel in the city yesterday, Dasara Special Officer and Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy dismissed concerns regarding security and safety at the new location, assuring that ample Police personnel would be deployed to maintain vigilant oversight throughout the event.

"We have also arranged sufficient parking space and will operate about 200 to 250 buses from both the City Bus Stand and Sub-Urban Bus Stands to the venue. Details regarding bus timings and boarding locations will be shared following discussions with officials," he added.

Regarding sponsorship, the DC stated that the sub-committee had not received any sponsors for Yuva Dasara, with organisations expressing interest only in supporting the main Dasara event. "If any organisations or companies are willing to sponsor the event, we are open to discussions," he affirmed.

No passes for Yuva Dasara

The committee has not issued any passes for the Yuva Dasara event, except for approximately 5,000 tickets available for those who wish to enjoy the performances up close. "We have provided an opportunity for about 95,000 spectators to watch the event free of charge, with all necessary amenities, including lighting and seating arrangements," stated the DC.

This year, the District Administration has implemented a ticketing system for Yuva Dasara. Initially, tickets were priced at Rs. 5,000 for the 'Diamond Zone' and Rs. 8,000 for the 'Platinum Zone'. However, in response to public demand for lower ticket prices, the authorities have introduced additional tickets priced at Rs. 1,500 for the 'Silver Zone' and Rs. 2,500 for the 'Gold Zone'.

The Rs. 1,500 tickets will be available for the concerts of Ravi Basrur and Badshah, while for the remaining three shows featuring Shreya Ghoshal, A.R. Rahman, and Ilaiyaraaja, the minimum ticket price is set at Rs. 2,500.

Tight police security

Yuva Dasara Sub Committee Deputy Special Officer and SP N. Vishnuvardhana addressed the media, announcing that a total of 1,239 Police personnel, including senior officers, will be deployed at the venue and along the route, alongside the installation of CCTV cameras as part of security measures.

He explained that the event was relocated from Maharaja College Ground to minimise traffic congestion, with necessary steps taken to ensure the safety of women and children. "There is no need for the public to have apprehensions; we have implemented measures to ensure the smooth conduct of the event and the safety of women and children at the venue," he stated.

The Police deployment includes four SPs, 12 Dy.SPs, 37 inspectors, 76 ASIs, 600 head constables and constables, 100 Women Police, 300 Home Guards, six KSRP platoons, 10 DAR platoons, 10 anti-sabotage check teams, four quick response teams, two ambulances, two fire engines, and one mobile command vehicle stationed at the venue and along roads leading to it.

To facilitate traffic flow, the department has assigned two inspectors, six PSIs, 10 ASIs, and 50 head constables and constables. Additionally, three patrolling vehicles will be constantly on the move to ensure safety. Authorities have also erected 10 watchtowers and set up 5-6 help desks for public assistance, with parking arrangements for approximately 3,000 vehicles in two different locations.

Separate seating for women

Addressing concerns about women's safety, the authorities have created a separate enclosure for women, offering about 5,000 seats to ensure a comfortable viewing experience.

"We have also contacted the Forest Department to implement necessary precautionary measures to prevent the intrusion of wild animals from Chamundi Hill or nearby forest areas.

The roads leading to the venue, along with the Ring Road, will be well-lit, and efforts will be made to ensure the timely commencement and conclusion of events so that attendees can travel safely," the SP added.

OFFLINE TICKET SALES

The Office of Deputy Commissioner has issued a press note stating that tickets for Torchlight Parade and Jumboo Savari will be available for offline sale both at the ticket counters of Mysore Palace and Spandana Centre in DC office premises at Siddarthanagar.

Chief Justice of India visits
Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple

Chamarajanagar/Mysuru, Oct. 5 (SS,RK&BCT)- Chief Justice of India (CJI) D.Y. Chandrachud, accompanied by his wife Kalpana Das, made a private visit yesterday to Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple at B.R. Hills, located in Yelandur Taluk, Chamarajanagar district, where they offered special prayers.

The couple arrived in Mysuru on Thursday evening via a special chopper at Mysore Airport from Bengaluru and stayed at the Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel on M.G. Road. They visited Suttur Mutt in city in the evening.

Yesterday morning, they visited the Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple and performed four special pujas to the deity. Temple priests and officials greeted the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of India and his wife with traditional music and honoured them. After the visit, the Chief Justice took a brief rest at K.Gudi, near Biligiri Rangana Hills.

Temple's origins

The Biligiri Ranganatha Tiger Reserve is named after the Biligiri Ranganatha Temple, situated atop the Biligiri Hill. A copper-plate inscription from 1667, belonging to Mudduraju, son of Trimalarajanayaka of Hadinadu, provides historical insight into the temple's origins.

The hills were originally referred to as Thiru Venkatanatha (a reincarnation of Vishnu) in Bilikal, or 'white rock.' In Sanskrit, the hill was called Shwetadri, meaning 'white hill,' due to the white appearance of the weathered granite cliff-face.

The Venkatanatha Temple became known as the Ranganatha Temple after Tipu Sultan, during a hunting expedition, described it as a temple of Lord Ranganatha. This is how the temple came to be known as the Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple.

Visit to Harlukote Anjaneya Swamy Temple

From K.Gudi, CJI Chandrachud and his family proceeded to the Harlukote Anjaneya Swamy Temple in Ramasamudra, Chamarajanagar, where he offered special prayers to Lord Hanuman.

As per mythology, the idol at the Harlukote Anjaneya Temple was established by Arjuna and is believed to be the birthplace of Babruvahana. The name 'Haralu' in Kannada refers to a precious stone, which is why the region was historically known as 'Manipuri.'

After visiting Ramasamudra, the Chief Justice and his family travelled to Bandipur in Gundlupet Taluk, where they stayed at a resort. The CJI and his family are scheduled to leave Mysuru today at 4.30 pm from the Mysore Airport in a chopper to Bengaluru, from where they will take a special flight to New Delhi.

It may be mentioned here that on Jan. 13, 2020, former Supreme Court Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi, along with his wife Roopanjali Gogoi, also visited the Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple and Harlukote Anjaneya Temple to offer prayers.

On the evening of Oct. 3, CJI Chandrachud, accompanied by his wife Kalpana Das, visited Suttur Mutt at the foot of Chamundi Hill in Mysuru and sought the blessings of Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji.

During the visit, Justice Chandrachud praised the exceptional contributions of Suttur Mutt and JSS Mahavidyapeetha in the fields of education, healthcare, spirituality and culture, benefiting all sections of society both within India and abroad. Later, the Swamiji felicitated the couple.

Heritage Circles or Hoardings?

This year's Dasara illumination is mediocre but the Circles are worse. Mysuru has turned into 'flexuru', thanks to the Government's decision to hand over key Circles to private players.

What used to be iconic landmarks are now little more than giant hoardings.

Interestingly, according to sources, most of these companies were not interested to take over the Circles as they did not have enough time to create aesthetic designs but agreed to sponsor so as to not 'upset' the administration.

But here's the burning question: If the Government is intent on selling off our public spaces to the highest bidder, then why did they bother increasing the Dasara budget?

And they did this while creatively sidestepping public tenders by invoking the Karnataka Transparency in Public Procurement (KTPP) Act.

For those not in the know, the KTPP Act allows the Government to bypass open bidding when it claims it 'ran out of time.' How convenient.

So, we're left wondering — was the whole Dasara preparation process conveniently delayed just to activate this loophole and handpick the 'right' contractors?

Here's where it gets truly puzzling: The Dasara budget ballooned from Rs. 29 crore last year to Rs. 40 crore this year. That's a whopping Rs. 11 crore more, and yet, somehow, they still felt the need to hand over our beautiful Circles to private companies.

Now, instead of historic monuments, we're greeted by enormous sponsor logos and political banners.

The District Administration appears to have forgotten that Mysuru is not just any city; it is a heritage city, where even a traffic Circle has historical significance, whether in its name, its design, or its location, which is meant to reflect the unique character of the city.

But now, under a barrage of gaudy lights, sponsor logos and political banners, these once-distinguished Circles are telling a different story — a story of administrative neglect, lack of imagination, and unbridled greed.

It is truly disheartening that the first impression tourists arriving from Bengaluru by road receive is no longer one of beauty or history, but of consumer products and political personalities.

This unregulated give-away of public spaces without the establishment of any proper guidelines has led to what can only be described as a visual assault.

Seeking sponsorship to improve public spaces isn't inherently a bad idea. Done right, it can be a win-win situation — enhancing the city's beauty while also attracting investment. But the way it's been executed here is anything but right.

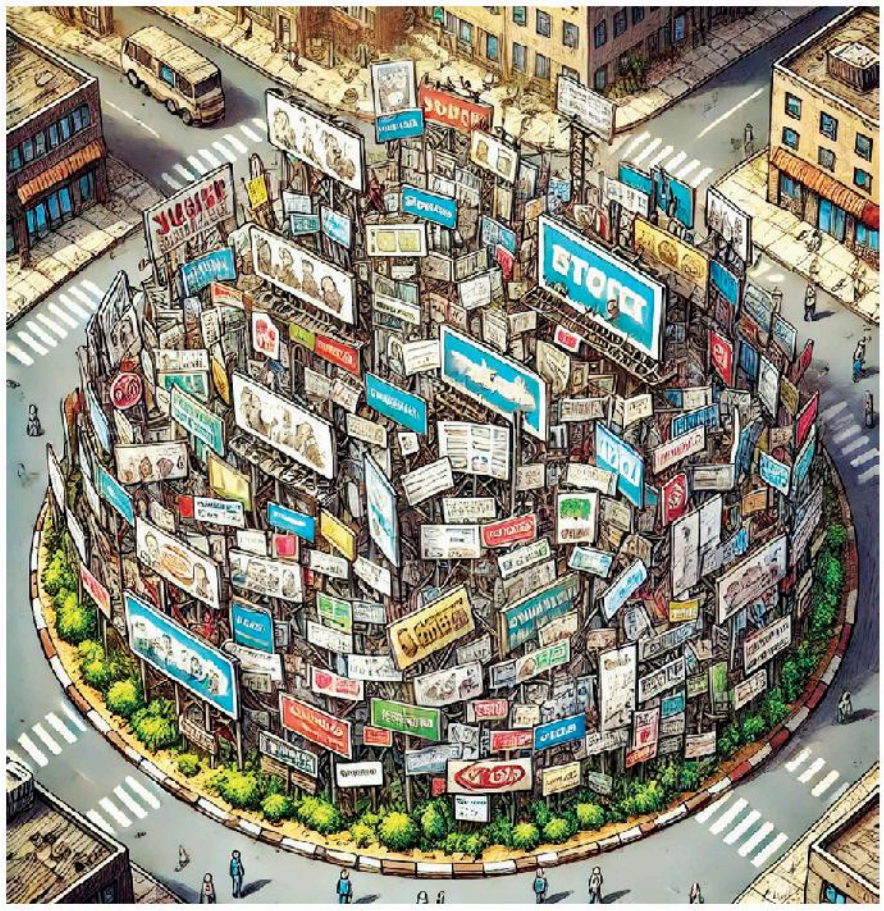
To begin with, the administration did not give sponsors enough time to plan and design their campaign.

Next, if public spaces like Circles or medians are to be leased to sponsors, there must be clear and enforceable ground rules, which we don't have.

Other countries have stringent design approval committees for such purposes, often comprising experts from renowned advertising agencies or design institutions.

Why can't Mysuru do the same? We could have a 'Dasara Public Space Design' Approval Committee which MUST comprise people from reputed design firms and schools such as the National Institute of Design or Karnataka Chitrakala Parishath.

Such a Committee would ensure that sponsors adhere to basic aesthetic principles, like limiting the sponsor's logo to no more than 20 percent of the space and ensuring that the advertisement blends harmoniously with the theme of Dasara and surrounding architecture.



Additionally, it could enforce rules that protect the physical structure of these heritage sites, ensuring that nothing is permanently damaged.

What we have now, however, is a chaotic free-for-all, where anyone with a banner can turn our historical Circles into personal billboards.

For years now, the city's once-pristine Circles have been turned into medieval town squares, plastered with garish posters announcing everything from elections to festivals to, morbidly, even deaths. But MCC does nothing to stop this vandalism.

Way back in 2006, the MCC proposed to declare K.R. Circle, Five-Lights Circle, Ramaswamy Circle etc., as 'hoarding-free' zones and ban commercial hoardings within 100 metres of heritage sites. What happened? Nothing.

In 2009, MCC started an 'illegal hoarding drive', what happened? Nothing.

In 2011, MCC Commissioner K.S. Raikar made a grand announcement: "We held discussions with the City Police Commissioner and cases will be filed against those violating the MCC directive on flex boards." What happened? Nothing.

Earlier this year, in 2024 the MCC Commissioner said that they have issued notices and asked the Zonal Commissioners to clear out the flex... what happened? Nothing.

Today, flex posters not only remain all around heritage Circles and buildings, but they have also now become part of the structure and with that part of Dasara too!

What a sad reflection of incompetence, of a District Administration, of a Royal Heritage City, one that hosts a world-famous festival!

Unless the MCC really flexes its muscles against flex, our city will become 'Flex City' and unless they make rules for sponsors of Circles during Dasara, then Historic Circles will end up as 'Billboards.'

At this rate of callousness, myopic vision and greed, Mysore Palace may be the next big Dasara hoarding with sponsors' logo adorning the Palace domes.

We are doomed.

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (RK&BS)- About 50 couples took part in the tonga ride for traditionally dressed couples, organised by the Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage, as part of the ongoing Dasara festivities, in the city this morning.

The tonga ride, that included chariots, decorated in flowers, was flagged off from the premises of Rangacharlu Memorial Town Hall at about 7.15 am.

The participants, with men dressed in silk dhoti and Mysore Peta and women in saree, were taken through heritage structures like Silver Jubilee Clock Tower (Doddagadiyara), Free Masons building, Chamarajendra Circle, Mysore Palace, K.R. ### DC orders vehicle ban on D.D. Urs Road last evening

Shop Owners say NO

Ban orders cancelled this morning

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (RK&BCT)- Bowing to pressure from traders and the business community, the Mysuru District Administration has reversed its decision to ban vehicular movement along D. Devaraj Urs Road, one of the city's key commercial areas, which had been turned into a 'walking street' for viewing Dasara illumination last evening.

Deputy Commissioner (DC) G. Lakshmikanth Reddy confirmed this change to Star of Mysore this morning. He explained that the administration, along with the Police, had initially implemented the ban to allow people to enjoy the illuminated streets on foot.

"We introduced the system experimentally last evening; yesterday was the first day. However, as shopkeepers and businessmen opposed the move, starting this evening, there will be no restrictions on vehicle movement. People can freely move around in their vehicles and walk to enjoy the lights. Although the initiative was well-intended, we have decided to drop it in light of the protests and opposition from the business community," the DC said.

Local traders and residents protested last evening against the complete ban on vehicular movement along Devaraj Urs Road. The administration had imposed the ban to restrict vehicle access during evening hours until the end of Dasara, allowing pedestrians to enjoy the festive illuminations.

Businessmen, residents frustrated

In line with this directive, the Police removed parked vehicles at 4 pm and barricaded K.R. Circle, the JLB Road Junction and all connecting side streets. However, the abrupt road closures left motorists stranded, traders without customers and residents near Devaraj Urs Road frustrated.

Many residents voiced their frustration over being unable to reach their homes due to the barricades, and even attempts to access side lanes were blocked, worsening the situation. Some individuals attempted to force their way past the barricades, leading to heated exchanges with the Police.

By 6 pm, tensions escalated as frustrated traders and residents took to the streets. Traders, facing an evening without business, irritated by the inability to reach their homes, surrounded Police Officers and demanded answers for the vehicle ban.

Despite the Police's efforts to explain that the restrictions were meant to provide a peaceful atmosphere for viewing the Dasara lights, it went in vain. Traders argued that the ban was crippling their business. They questioned the point of celebrating Dasara if it only inconvenienced the public.

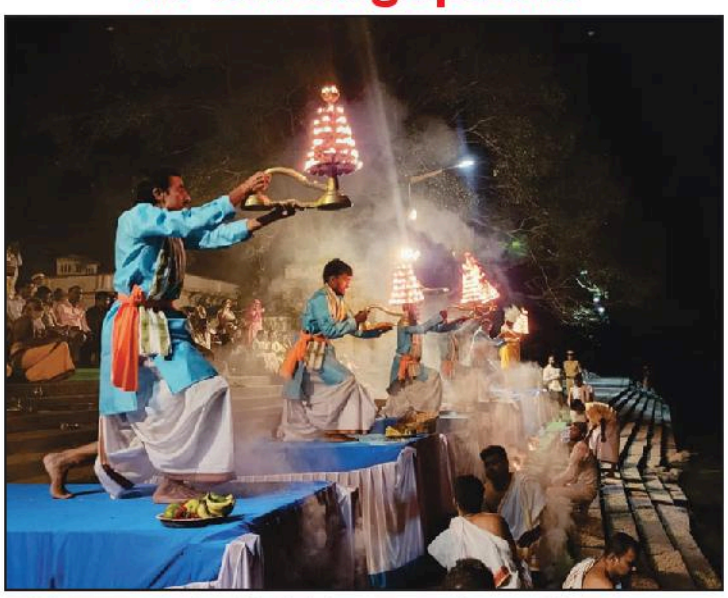
Cauvery Aarti ritual begins in Srirangapatna



Srirangapatna, Oct. 5 (BCT)- In a significant event for the Srirangapatna Dasara festival, the Mandya District Administration, inspired by the Ganga Aarti of North India, officially launched the Cauvery Aarti at the bathing ghat on Thursday evening.

Under the leadership of Deputy Commissioner Dr. Kumara, a team of priests led by Vedic scholar Dr. Bhanuprakash Sharma performed rituals to honour the sacred River Cauvery.

The ceremony featured offerings of sandalwood paste, incense and camphor aarti, paying homage to Mother Cauvery. Additional rituals included a Ganapati puja, Ashtottara puja and the lighting of lamps as a vow to honour the river Goddess.

It has been decided that the Cauvery Aarti will take place till Oct. 5, as part of Dasara.

Dr. Bhanuprakash Sharma noted that while the Shashwathi Dharmika Kriya Samiti traditionally conducts the Cauvery Aarti during the Tula month, this year it was held a month earlier due to the Dasara festivities.

Low public turnout

Despite efforts to emulate the popular Ganga Aarti, the event experienced low public turnout. Recently, representatives and officials from Mysuru and Mandya districts, including members of the Cauvery Aarti Committee, visited northern regions like Kashi (Varanasi) to gather insights on conducting the aarti.

However, inadequate promotion by the District Administration resulted in minimal public attendance. Aside from a signboard near the bathing ghat indicating the District Administration's involvement, no significant promotional efforts were made.

Locals have called for a proper explanation from the administration, questioning the use of public funds for Varanasi travel when the Cauvery Aarti did not meet expectations.

Among those present at the event were former MLA Vijayalakshmamma Bandisiddegowda, ZP CEO Sheikh Tanveer Asif, Mandya SP Mallikarjuna Baladandi, Addl.SP C.E. Thimmaiah, Dy.SP Murali and members of the Town Municipal Council.

'Dwarakish has made enormous contribution for Kannada Film Industry'

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (DM)- Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said that the State Government has decided to establish the Mysuru Film City in a sprawling 160-acre land at Immavu in Nanjangud taluk.

He was speaking after inaugurating the week-long (Oct.4 to Oct.10) Dasara Film Festival on Thursday. Pointing out that the Government had decided to establish the Film City in Mysuru in 110 acre area at Immavu when he was the CM earlier, Siddaramaiah said now it has been decided to sanction 50 more acres for the expansion of the Film City in the second phase.

Noting that it is the objective of both the State Government and the Film Industry to come up with a model Film City, he said that it has been planned to complete the project in three years.

"The Government has been extending full support for the growth of Kannada Film Industry. More Kannada movies must be produced and people should come forward to watch these cinemas in theatres. It is important that movie buffs visit the theatres more for the growth of the film industry," he said adding that the film festival will be held till Oct.10. He further said that both old and new cinemas will be screened during the festival and the public must make use of this golden opportunity to watch super hit movies of yesteryears.

Lauding late actor Dwarakish for his enormous contribution to the Kannada Film Industry, the CM said that this year's Dasara Film Festival is dedicated to the late actor.

Noting that Dwarakish is an immortal character in the Kannada Film Industry, Siddaramaiah recalled his experience while flying in a helicopter to Mysuru along with Dwarakish, with whom he maintained a good friendship.

He wished that Dwarakish's children continue the legacy left behind by their illustrious father.

Noted Cine Director Rajendra Singh Babu said that the entire Indian Film Industry will look at Mysuru now that a model Film City is coming up, thanks to the efforts of CM Siddaramaiah.

Many achievers of the Kannada film industry including late actor Dwarakish's sons Yogesh Dwarakish and Girish Dwarakish were felicitated. CM Siddaramaiah also released a documentary and a booklet on the film industry on the occasion.

It's not just for the namesake, Mysuru Dasara is indeed a popular State festival. Dasara is synonymous with Mysuru.
